The committee went to Tabasco during the rainy season and found about half of the tract of land was subnerged. The sight of the swamp as the foundation on which the memrs based their report.

They were in that section of the country for several weeks and it was found that some of the land would be covered with water for three or four months and certain portions would have to be drained. There was also some hitch in the title of the land and that also caused some trouble before it could be straightened out.

Aquila Nebeker was responsible for interesting Bishop Cluff in the coloniation of the state of Tabasco, and, it said, was one of the original promotrs of the scheme. Now that the Mexlean Land & Sugar company has with-drawn its interests, it is understood that Mr. Nebeker and Bishop Cluff are looking for some one to go into the original plan and it is not unlikely that another Utah company may be formed. In view of this they are perecting the titles and description of the

A mother wrote us recently. that she had to keep Scott's Emulsion under lock and key -her children used to drink it whenever her back was turned. Strange that children should like something that is so good for them. It's usually the other way. Scott's Emulsion makes children comfortable, makes them fat and rosy-cheeked. Perhaps that's why they like it so much—they know it makes them feel good.

The unfavorable report made by the special committee composed of W. J. Dooley, J. C. Dick and Alma Eldredge a short time ago on the conditions of the vast tract of land in the state of Tabasco, Central America, in which the Mexican Land & Sugar company of Utah was interested, has caused that corporation to make voluntary application for dissolution in the district court. The matter is now pending in the district court, but it will be settled in a few days.

The company was organized about clight months ago with the following officers: President, Benjamin Cluff, vice president, James Chipman; secretary and treasurer, Richard W. Young A board of eleven directors was also elected.

The tract of lend which the company intended to purchase, covers an area of about 376,000 acres and it was through Bishop Benjamin Cluff, president of the corporation, that the company was organized. Soon after the company was formed a special committee was sent to look over the tract of land and on their return they presented an unfavorable report.

Protest of Oregon and Washington Fishermen.

Seattle, March 7.—A protest, supported by affidavits, has been sent to the department of commerce and labor by influential fishermen of Washington and Oregon, calling attention to the fact that Japanese fishermen are coming across the Behring sea and catching salmon by the shipload off the Alaskan coast. The supply of fish in Japan is now limited, and the demand increased by reason of the war, so that the poachers are cutting off a good market for the American fishermen.

GETTING HOME

ness Early.

COURT STRIKE ON RAPID TRANSIT

CARS WERE FEW.

New York, March 7 .- Downtown New York quit business early this afternoon and put its mind and effort to the single purpose of getting home. The morning's ectacle of lower Broadway and its tribspectacle of lower Broadway and its tributary streets crowded with private equipages, cabs and automobiles, was repeated. It began by 4 o'clock and from then until dusk the narrow thoroughfare was a vast moving mass of vehicles.

While nothing like the customary number of persons sought the subway and elevated railways, nevertheless the crowd was large enough to fill the stations as early as 4 o'clock. The infrequent trains were rushed, the crowds in their eagerness blocking the narrow doors so that it frequently required the efforts of police on duty to push them inside and keep the way clear.

Jam Was Tremendous. Now and then two or three trains would follow each other quickly to be succeeded by an interval of none. The resulting jam in the stations was tremendous, and as the green motormen never succeeded in stopping a train at the usual place, much confusion resulted. Grasping the projecting door edges, men would surge forward with the moving train, pushing their neghbors back until some bad nature was engendered. But on the whole the people were orderly. Police in plenty were on hand, and the situation in the downtown stations was admirably handled. Until nearly 5 o'clock even the irregular ervice of trains was sufficient to handle he people, and it soon became apparent hat there was a general impression that he road was not running or that a spirit of third in the control of the control of the road was not running or that a spirit of timidity had been engendered. All day there had been rumors and reports of wrecks and injuries, and probably this had much to do with the lessening of the crowds.

Subway Fas Free. At nearly all stations the ticket choppers' boxes stood unattended and covered with canvas, and everyone was free to use the subway who cared to chance it after a warning that it was at his own risk. The Brooklyn bridge station was an exception. The regular ticket chopper was missing, but his place was filled by an unshaven man clad in dirty overalls, on whose slouch hat was a band indicating that he was an employe of the system.

A few minutes after the collection at Twenty-third street the danger signals were flashed along the whole tunnel, and simultaneously a fresh squad of police appeared at the Brooklyn bridge station. Under command of a captain they were stationed at all the exits and entrances, the ticket-sellers' windows were shut down and the crowds who had not gained entrance to the train platforms were turned away.
